Anecdotes of Felix G. McConnell.

A writer in "Southern Society," who was a contemporary, in Congress, of the late Felix Grundy McConnell, of Alabama, contributes some amusing anecdotes of that eccentric personage. We quote:

"One night McConnell went to hear the great violinist, Ole Bull. Unfortunately he had taken a glass or so too much, and he was hardly in a situation to appreciate properly the sweet strains that fell from the bow. In the midst of one of the most exquisite pieces, while every breath was suspended and every ear attentive to catch the soft sounds of that magical instrument, and the whole audience as it were hanging upon the elbow of the artist, the silence was suddenly broken, and the harmony harshly interrupted by the well-known voice of Mac. exclaiming at the top of its compass, 'None of your d—d highfaluting, but give us Hail Columbia, Happy Land, and bear hard upon the treble.' Immediately from every part of the house was heard the cry of 'turn him out,' 'throw him over,' etc. Instantly some five or six police officers approached to enforce the wishes of the house, and eject the disturber of the peace and harmony."

Mc. was not only one of the handsomest men in the house, but also one of the most athletic, and besides, was an accomplished practitioner of the art of self-defence. Seeing some score of these officers approaching, he squared himself in a boxing position, crying out: 'Just lay yourself out into are lots, and I'll take a half acre at a time.' He would have been as good as his word, but some of his Congressional friends coming up, interfered and took him off to his room—not before he had received a severe cut on his forehead from one of their heavy clubs."

The next morning coming into the house, he met Charles J. Ingersoll, who was surprised at seeing his hair (which he usually wore brushed up) flat down on his forehead.

"Why, General," said Mr. L., I did not know you. I was not aware that you wore a wig."

"Oh, no," said Mac., 'it's only a scratch;' at the same time exhibiting the cut which he had received the night before, and which he had hid by plaiting down his hair on his forehead; so opposite to his usual way of wearing it, that it had very much the appearance of a wig.

He had a collection of the most singular and striking phrases and comparisons I have ever heard, but unfortunately they were mostly drawn from the race course, and other places not quite so respectable, that it is impossible to give them here.

[To the above, we would add, that Mr. McConnell was the member of Congress, who, once, "on a bender," found himself at Fish Town, in this place, then in all its glory, and in the "heights of the season." Astonished, and as it seemed, delighted with the scene and its "accessories," he swore that it was "a Kentucky of a place"—and had he known there was such fun to be found in striking distance from Washington, he would have made it his business to visit it, at least, once a week.]

African Fetichism.

We have published, from time to time, on good authority, accounts of the negroes in Hayti returning to the fetich worship of their barbarian ancestors and kindred in Africa. Some have pretended to doubt these statements, because they conflicted with their theory. There is no doubt, however, as to the fact of these Africans relapsing into barbarism, both in Hayti and elsewhere, whenever they are emancipated from the restraints and guidance of white people. We see now that President Salvane, of Hayti, who it must be presumed is one of the most intellectual and civilized men of his race, has been excommunicated by the Christian Church for fetichism. When a ruler or chief of a people like Salvane abandons a religion or adopts a superstition we may be sure that the mass of the people have gone or are tending the same way; and this relapse of Salvane to African fetichism is confirmatory of what we have heard frequently about the negroes in Hayti returning to their normal state of barbarism.

The blacks in the United States, taking them in mass, have attained a degree of civilization which the race never reached before or elsewhere. Of course, we mean the mass of that people, and do not consider such rare individual exceptions as those of Toussaint l'Ouverture and others of superior ability, as counteracting the general fact. These cases are entirely exceptional and are very rare. The blacks here made this progress toward civilization because they were in immediate contact with and under the guidance and control of the highest race of manhood, the Caucasian. Perhaps we might say also, because they were under the highest type of the Caucasian race, the Anglo-Saxon or Anglo-American. But even here, where large bodies of them live chiefly among themselves and are isolated in a great degree from the white people, they begin to relapse. The fact has been known to many Southerners and to those who have travelled and studied the subject in the South, for a long time. But latterly it has come to our knowledge through the most reliable authority that in certain parts of North Carolina, of Louisiana or other Southern States, the negroes are going back to a sort of fetich worship. Even there, where they have been taught Christianity from childhood and see its worship and influences all around them, they are tending to the grossest superstition and practices regarding witchcraft. There are cases where unfortunate blacks have been nearly beaten to death by their fellows for the purpose of punishing the witches or evil spirits out of them, just as the barbarous tribes of Africa do, as described by M. Du Chailu. This universal tendency everywhere to fetichism is remarkable, and is a subject for the study of philosophers.—N. Y. Herald.

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.
ESTABLISHED AS A REFUGE FROM QUACKERY.

THE ONLY PLACE WHERE A CURE CAN BE OBTAINED.

DR. JOHNSON has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, and on'y Effectual Remedy in the World for Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affection of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Langor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling Dimness of Sight, or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, No. 6, or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach, or Bowels. These Terrible Disorders, arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN,
Especially, who have become the victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of Young Men of the most excellent talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senators with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.
Married Persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of Physical Weakness, Organic Defects, Deformities, speedily cured.
